WEEK'S BUSINESS GENTRALLY QUIET

Fair Demand for Money, With Rate n Western Farm Loas Marked Up.

MUCH DEPENDS ON CROPS

Locally, Hardware and Cement Trade Good, Lumber and Dry Goods Nothing to Boast Of.

This has been an unusually quiet week in money circles, practically featureless, though the demand for money continues fair. However, banking men say thesky of finance is clear, There is some comment on the remarks of a western binker relative to farm loans. The later says:

Local banks, including our own, have marked up the rate on farm loans following the advance of 1 per cent to 6 per cent tasis, by the Northwestern Life and other insurance com-panies. For some time we eager; sought this kind of business, but finally found ourselves pretty well finally found ourselves pretty well loaned up.

Our idea in advancing the rate on farm loans was not to check land speculation so much as to keep the normal proportions of our business intact. We were being swamped with demands from the country for funds.

There may have been excessive speculation in land in some sections of the west, especially in new areas and irrigated lands, but our own experience has been that the farmers who borrowed money put it back into their own land has been that the farmers who borrowed money put it back into their own land in one form or another. They bought new machinery, live stock, dairy and poultry facilities and so on, thus increasing the productivity of middle western farms."

CLEWS LOOKS TO THE CROPS. Henry Clews in his latest circular

The outlook in this country depends chiefly upon the crops. Thus far the outlook in this respect is satisfactory. Some damage was done by recent unfavorable weather, but only in spots, and the injury was much exaggerated. Should the results of the crops reach $5,500,000,000 to $5,000,000,000, as is now predicted, good times for the United Etates will be continued. Possibly our farmers may not secure quite as large profits in 1810 as in 1809, owing to the declines in commodities; but this margin has been unusually wide, and a moderate recession will still yield the agriculturist good returns, at the same time affording some relief to the consumer who has been compelled to pay inordinately high prices during the past year. It is true that western bankers show a more conservative spirit than was anticipated a month ago, and somewhat higher rates of money are expected to prevail at the west in consequence. Nevertheless, money will be fairly abundant and easy until the new The outlook in this country depends sequence. Nevertheless, money will be gairly abundant and easy until the new crops begin to move, which will be about Sept. 1. Should the crop outlook continue satisfactory, business is sure to revive later on and there is as yet no reason for taking any but a hopeful view regarding the future. Before long Congress will adjourn, and the country will then have much needed relief from the too frequent attacks upon business which emanated from that quarter.

BARDWARE TRADE LOOKING UP The hardware trade reports business good, particularly in the saddlery and harness line. There is also a strong demand for heavy hardware such as bar iron, steel wire, wire fencing, positry fencing, builders' hardware from out of town points, etc. However, in the city the demand for builders' hardware is not so good. Specified ever, in the city the defining to build, ers' hardware is not so good. Sporting goods, particularly baseball goods, are excellent sellers, with automobile sundries. The heavy machinery market is looking, up and in this conjuction. looking up, and in this connection is interesting to note that mining achinery which has been in the slump for so long, is now looking up, so that something may be expected in this line right away. As to collections, however, this phase of the trade is referred to in "bated breath." But there is a dispo-sition to hope for the best, to look for

LUMBER A LITTLE QUIET.

The lumber trade reports a very quiet week, like the money market. However, the car shortage seems to have ceased, with cars arriving on good time, and delayed shipments being cleared up, with promise of there being no more delays. There are no changes in prices in any of the branches of the trade. The demand for cement remains the same, with orders just as difficult to fill.

WHOLESALE DRY GOODS SPOTTY. The wholesale dry goods trade reports The wholesale dry goods trade lepoits a bracing in the cotton market due to the short supply in the wool crop—that is, the wool crop within immediate reach. There is wool enough in the country, only it is not reaching the consuming market with suncient speed to cause any tendency toward lower prices in the manufactured fabric. Besides stocks have been reduced to the point where second hands and retailers have to buy to replenish; hence prices are stronger than they were a week ago. Jobbers do not believe there will be any change to speak of in the cotton market until September. There are sizeable lots of summer fabrics being shipped out to the intermountain retail trade. Jobbers report no improvements in print goods, while staple prints are specially quiet. However, fine sheer prints in combed yard fabrics are gaining steadily, and percales are being sold at low prices. Southern gingshams are cheap. There is a shortage in knit goods buyers who are sure prices will be lower. There has been ittle or no change in hosiery, with staple qualities bought from hand to mouth, and prices irregular. It is claimed that cheaps ilipens are unlike. stape quantles bought from hand to mouth, and prices irregular. It is claimed that cheaper linens are unlike-ly, as manufacturers' stocks are low and the flax crop backward. Orders are still being sent out for dress linens with more interest taken in fancy pat-terns. Duck is reported down to 1908 prices.

RETAIL DRY GOODS QUIET.

The retail dry goods trade enjoyed special suit sales by one big department house this week and an annual general May sale in another that crowded the decks so that it was difficult to move around. However, the trade as a whole has experienced an unusually quiet week. "Nothing doing," said one local manager yesterday. Whether this untoward state of things is due to the weather, or to things is due to the weather, or to special sales which completely occupied the attention of the feminine world, can not be stated with any historical can not be stated with any historical accuracy. There continues much complaint that the ladies will persist in waiting until afternoon, before doing their shopping, so that the mornings are wasted in absolute idleness at the stores. One dealer wishes the Orpheum jokers would "get off" something on the boards about the dry goods stores being a howling wilderness in the morning, while in the afternoon they are packed with women all wanting to do everything at once, and complaining that they can not be waited on immediately, if not sooner. It has been suggested that the dry goods stores remain closed in the morning, thus giving their help a much needed rest for the grand rush, crush and ed rest for the grand rush, crush and oush of the afternoon. The sales of

BUSINESS NOTES

The week has been rather quiet in local stocks. Money has been hardly so tight as last week, but is still hard to obtain, and the banks generally seem to have made up their minds to discontinue the speculations both in land and building which have been going on so long. This has forced interest rates up somewhat and naturally caused a slight weakening in those stocks which have been thrown on the market. Only a few sales however, are recorded.

BANKERS AT BANQUET.

Program Includes Good Things to Eat, Choice Music and Timely Addresses,

Nearly 70 members and friends of the Salt Lake chapter of the American Institute of Banking gave a splendid banquet at the Commercial club Friday right. It proved one of the jolliest might. It proved one of the joiliest gatherings of the kind held in the city for months. There were not only good things to eat and drink, but the musical program could not have been surpassed, many of the most talented specialty artists of Salt Lake taking part. Q. B. Kelly, the retiring president of the organization, acted as toast-master, and he made a hit in that difficult capacity. Remarks were made by S. G. Saville; an address on "Opportunity" was given by W. W. Armstrong, president of the National Copper bank; "The Coming of Halley's Comet" was discussed by George H. Horne of the State Bank of Utah; Charles R. Mabey told of "The Knocker;" and Rev. P. A. Sanpkin speke briefly on "Counterfeiters,"

The music was furnished by Prof. J. J. McClellan, R. Midgley, Mr. Flashman, Mr. Jorgensen and R. Midgley, and with solos by Willard Welhe, violin; Melvin Peterson, baritone; H. I. Bowles, tenor; A. J. Kisselburg, baritone; M. Flashman, flute, and Mr. Midgley, violin. Prof. Lund told several emusing stories.

Among those present were W. F. Earls, cashier of the National Bank

GRAND FINALE AT LOGAN

Party Return This Morning Tired but Pleased With Work of Strenuous Week,

The closing day of the All-Utah costers excursion was perhaps the greatest day of them all. The trip through the fruit-bearing and beet yielding districts of Boxelder county and the Bear River valley, ending up with a tour of the beautiful Cache, with a tour of the beautiful Cache, was one that was a revelation to the most enthusiastic booster on the special train, and one that will impress itself on the memories of those in the party for many a day to come. After visiting the sugar factory at Garland and viewing the beet fields and fruit orchards at Tremonton, the excursionists returned to Brigham city, where they were welcomed by a big crowd of business men and handsome women and young girls, with garcrowd of business men and handsome women and young girls, with garlands of roses, which were presented to the boosters. The exercises at the "Peach City" concluded, the party visited the cement plant north of Brigham, where cement is manufactured from the mari found in the old dry lake.

AT CACHE'S CAPITAL.

At Logan the boosters received a splendid reception. A committee of citizens met the train at the depot and the party was taken in autos and carriages to the Agricultural college. Here President Widtsoe Introduced George T. Odell, who said Logan was the 35th city visited by the Commercial club party on the tour, in which 1,960 miles had been covered and the plan of publicity contemplated by the Commercial club had been listened to by 109,090 adults and 150,060 children. Speeches were made by W. J. Halloran and Will F. Culmer, the latter being one of the oldest graduates of the Agricultural college. After several songs by the glee club, the party was shown through the various buildings at the college, where they were driven to the grounds of the B. Y. college and witnessed a ball game.

At 6 o'clock in the evening a meeting was held in the tabernacle. C. M. Harris, vice-president of the Cache Commercial club presided. He introduced Mayor J. H. Anderson of Logan, who welcomed the boosters to the metropolis of the north. Mayor Anderson then introduced Joseph E. Caine, who took charge of the meeting.

Stirring addresses were made by George T. Odell, Will G. Farrell, Horace G. Nebeker, Herschel Bullen, C. C. Harris of Richmond and Judge E. F. Colborn. There were songs by the Glee club, music by the band, and the meeting closed with the band playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

In the evening there was a reception for the boosters from 8 to 9 o'clock, after which there was a ball in the pavillon from 9 to 12 o'clock. Governor William Spry and Chief Justice D. N. Straup went to Logan from Salt Lake in time to attend the reception and ball. The train started on the return trip to Salt Lake at 2 o'clock this morning, and arrived about 9 o'clock with everybody tired, but more than satisfied with the great success as well as the week of unallowed pleasure which had attended the trip.

Joseph H. Young, general superintendent of the northern district of the Southern Pacific rallroad at San Francisco, will shortly sever his connection with the Harriman Interests to accept a lucrative position with the American Smelting & Refining company, which owns vast railroad and steamship interests in Alaska and elsewhere. Although nothing definite has been given out with regard to the duties of Mr. Young in his new position, it is presumed that he will take charge of the railroad interests of the American Smelting & Refining company, a Guggenheim corporation, which is building the Copper river railroad in Alaska, Mr. Young's friends in this city and state, his birthplace and home, will be pleased to learn of his good fortune, for it is said that his new position carries one of the highest salaries in the United States. Mr. Young was connected with the Oregon Short Line as superintendent and as general superintendent some years ago, leaving here to become general manager of the Colorado & Southern at Denver. Later he went with the Frisco lines, after which he went to San Francisco as head man on the Southern Pacific under General Manager E. E. Caivin. Some of Mr. Young's friends had entertained a hope that he might eventually return to Sait Lake City, but in view of the good things ahead of him that hope would at present seem to be vain. sumed that he will take charge of the Elder Rockwood left home June 26, 1907, and when he returned he had circled the globe, coming home via Australia and the Pacific. The greater part of his time he labored in Grahamstown, Queenstown and Port Elizabeth and was president of the Eastern Province mission.

Province mission.

He reports that conditions in the British colony are distinctly blue with people leaving to seek homes elsewhere in the British empire. Since the Boer war, he says, conditions have gone from bad to worse and there are many men, capable engineers and members of other professions who are walking the streets penniless. However, in the face of conditions, he affirms that the missionary work is most prosperous and converts are coming in on all sides. When he left the work was opening up in Johannesburg and Pretoria in the Transvaal with splendid prospects.
